Sign-up Process

Sign-up Process

Get started on your journey with impact.com in two ways:

- Sign up for Marketplace: Gives you access to brands using impact.com and apply to their programs.
- Direct sign up through a brand: Allows you to create an account solely for the purpose of working with a specific brand.

If you sign up through a brand, they'll provide you with a direct link.

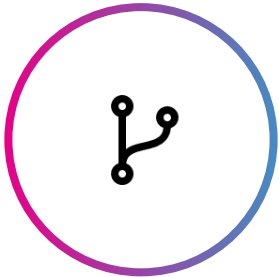

Note: When a brand sends you a direct link, your sign up may look different than the standard flow. Both methods gather similar information.

→ Sign up via email or social pages

Select how you want to create your account.

- If you sign up with email: You create unique login credentials for impact.com.
- If you sign up with social accounts: You use that platform's login credentials.

If you sign up through Fever, they'll provide you with a direct link.

→ Select your business model

Next, tell us your business model so brands can find you more easily in the Marketplace.

Use the descriptions to determine which business model best describes you.

Pro tip: Creators should pick the Creator business model to access influencer brand campaigns and features.

What is your primary business model?

Content/Reviews
☐

Publishers focused on producing editorial content related to promoting, comparing and listing products / services.

Deal/Coupons
☐

Publishers who aggregate / classify deals and promotions for consumer savings.

Loyalty/Rewards
☐

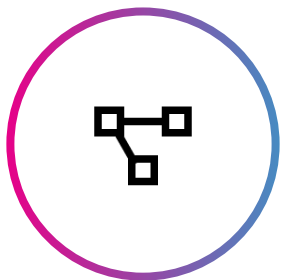

Publishers who incentivize transactions from consumers, employees, or businesses through a membership / benefits reward program.

Creator

Individuals who market products and services to their own audience on social media platforms.

→ Identify your promotional methods

When brands check out potential partners, they usually focus on media properties. It provides a comprehensive picture of what you can do for them.

Now add the channels you use to promote brands.

Note: You'll need to verify at least one verified media property in order to move forward in the sign up process.

→ Fill out your account information

Next, provide additional information about your business. You're required to provide:

- Individual/company status
- Account display name
- Company website and LinkedIn page
(for company accounts)
- Country/region, timezone, and currency
- Mailing address

Note: The Currency field determines what currency you're paid in. You can't change it after the account has been created.

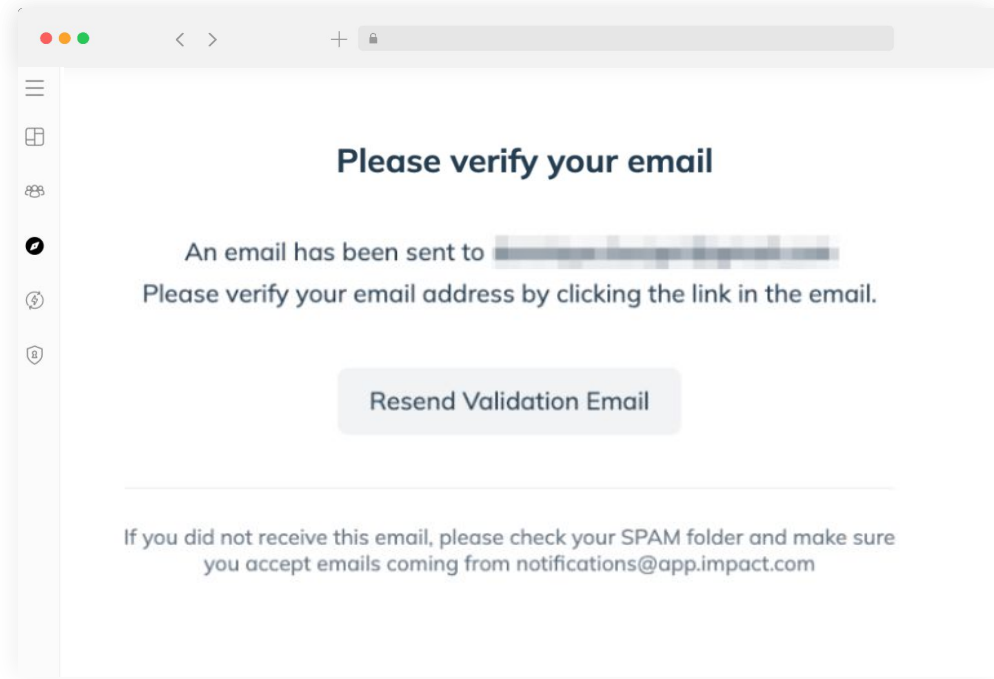

The screenshot shows the 'Tell us about yourself' section of the impact.com account creation form. It includes radio buttons for 'Individual' and 'Company' status, followed by text input fields for 'Account display name', a dropdown for 'Country / Region' (currently showing 'United States'), and two text input fields for 'Mailing address' (labeled 'Street address 1' and 'Street address 2').

→ Verify your email address

Confirm your email address so we know where to send important notifications.

Select the link emailed to your sign-up email address to complete this task.

Pro tip: Didn't receive your verification email? Check your spam folder.

→ Provide your indirect tax information

Next, select whether you're registered for indirect tax.

If you're registered for indirect tax, you'll need to provide the country in which you're registered and your indirect tax number.

Note: Adding or changing this information will affect whether you're taxed the appropriate rates and whether the correct tax amounts appear on your monthly invoices. See the Indirect Tax for Partners FAQs to learn more.

Fill out the following fields:

- Pro tip: For more information, see our step-by-step guide to creating a Marketplace listing that brands can't resist.

→ Submit your application

Press Submit Application to complete the signup process.

Here's what to expect:

- If you signed up for Marketplace: impact.com will review your application within two business days. Once approved, you can work with brands immediately.
- If you signed up through a brand:
The brand will review your application following their own process and timeline. Brands have the option to use impact's vetting process. In these cases, applications may take longer to be approved.

Adjust Account Settings

Adjusting Account Settings

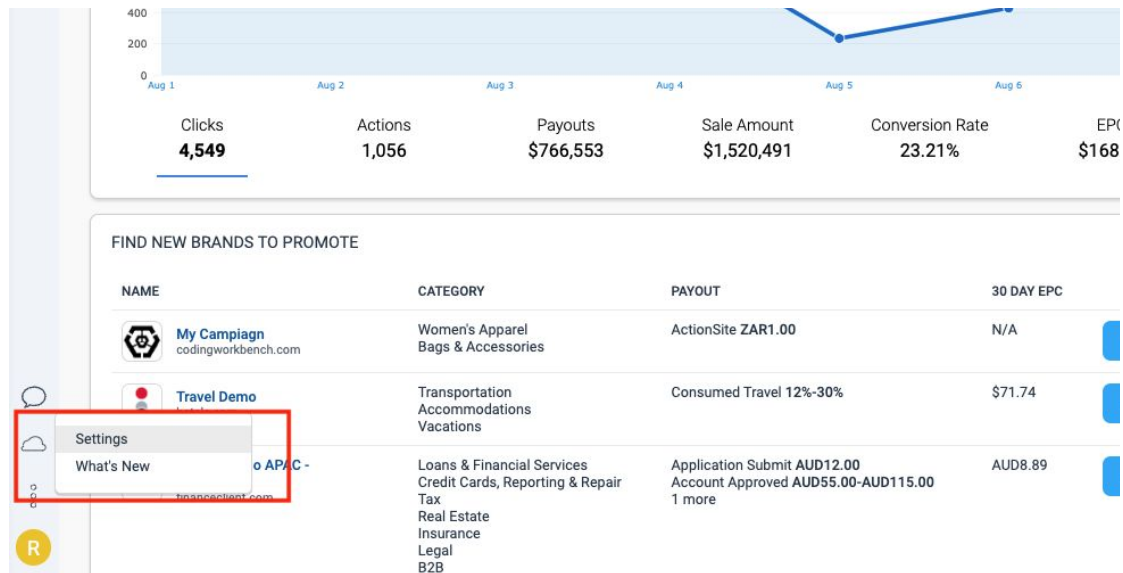

To get the most value from impact.com, fine-tune your account settings and set yourself up for success.

Let's explore the primary ways to tailor your account to your needs.

→ Accessing your account settings

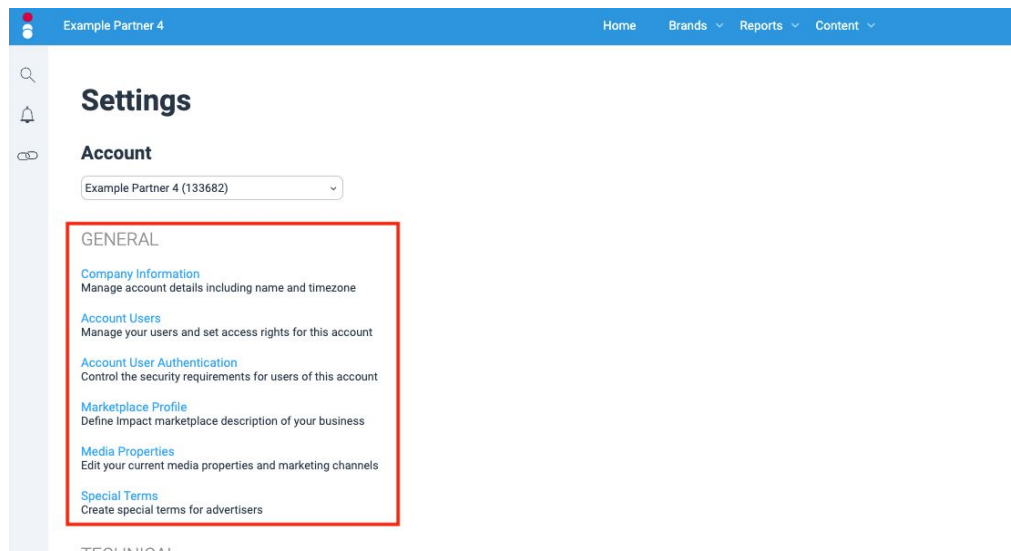

Access your account settings menu by clicking on the cloud icon, then selecting Settings.

➔ General Settings

Under General, you can update your information, adjust user access to the account, refine your impact.com Marketplace listing, and more.

Let's take a closer look at some of the most important general settings available.

→ Invite a user

Invite a User serves as mission control for user permissions.

Invite, edit permissions, and remove users with access to your account.

You can also adjust the sub-rights available for each user (e.g., a user can view account financials but not edit the settings).

This allows you to calibrate your team's access based on their role.

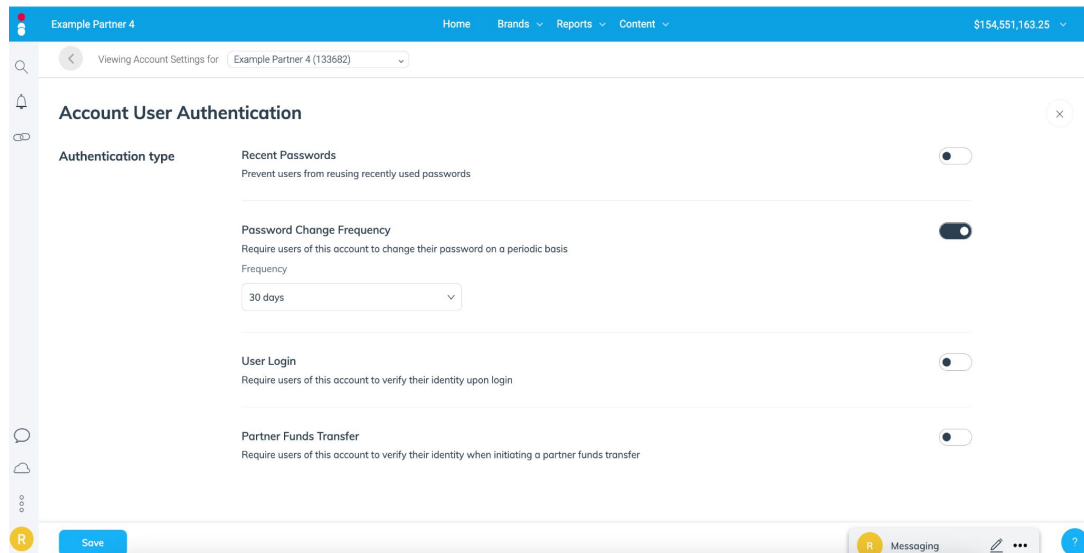

The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the 'Invite a User' page within the impact.com Creator interface. The page title is 'Invite a User' and it is part of the 'Example Partner 4' account settings. The interface includes a navigation bar at the top with links for Home, Brands, Reports, and Content, along with a balance of $154,551,163.25. The main content area has a form for inviting a user, with fields for 'Invitee Name', 'Invitee Email Address', and a large text area for 'Add invitation message'. Below the form, there is a 'Permissions' section with a list of checkboxes: Finance, Advertiser Management, Account Administration, Technical, Messaging, and Creative Management. At the bottom of the form, there are 'Cancel' and 'Submit' buttons. The bottom of the browser window shows a 'Messaging' button and a help icon.

➔ Account user authentication

Account User Authentication allows you to set security rules at the account level.

Make your account as secure as you need, such as requiring users to change their password periodically.

The screenshot shows the 'Account User Authentication' settings page for 'Example Partner 4'. The page is part of a web application with a blue header bar containing navigation links: Home, Brands, Reports, and Content. The top right of the header shows a balance of '$154,551,163.25'. Below the header, there's a breadcrumb trail: 'Viewing Account Settings for Example Partner 4 (133682)'. The main content area is titled 'Account User Authentication' and contains four settings, each with a toggle switch:

- Authentication type
 - Recent Passwords: Prevent users from reusing recently used passwords. Toggle is turned off.
 - Password Change Frequency: Require users of this account to change their password on a periodic basis. Toggle is turned on. Below this is a 'Frequency' dropdown menu set to '30 days'.
 - User Login: Require users of this account to verify their identity upon login. Toggle is turned on.
 - Partner Funds Transfer: Require users of this account to verify their identity when initiating a partner funds transfer. Toggle is turned off.

At the bottom of the settings area is a blue 'Save' button. The footer of the interface includes a 'Messaging' button, a menu icon, and a help icon.

→ Marketplace profile

Marketplace Profile builds your public listing on the impact.com Marketplace.

Add your business model and other details, such as a logo, description, and keywords, so brands can find you.

Complete this information immediately to make your account more attractive to brands in the Marketplace.

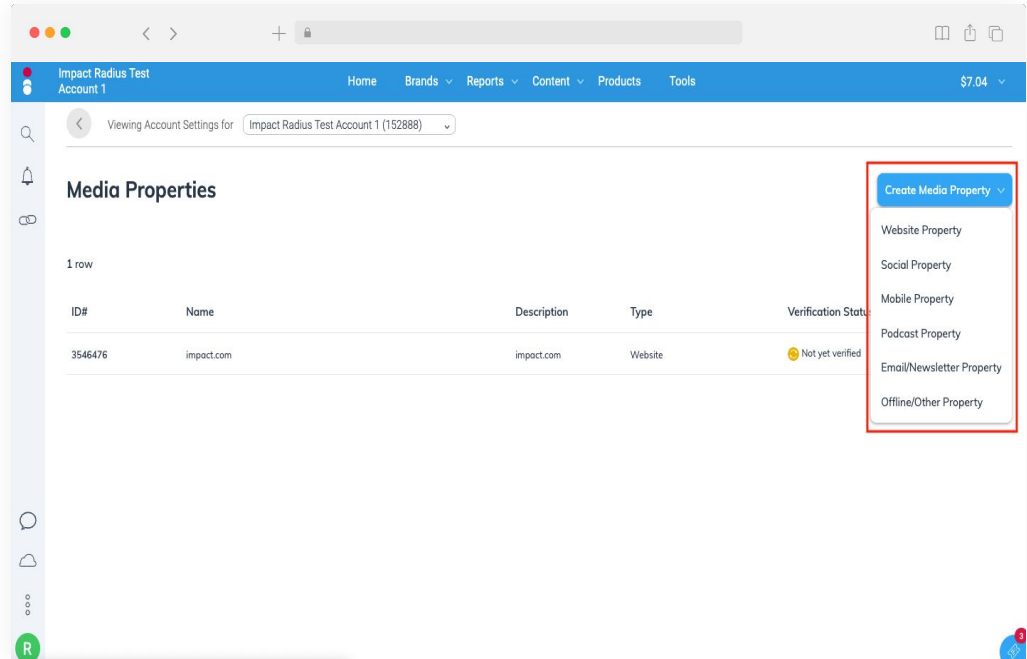

The screenshot shows the 'Marketplace Profile' settings page for 'Example Partner 4' (ID: 133682). The page is part of the impact.com Creator interface, with a blue header bar containing navigation links (Home, Brands, Reports, Content) and a balance of $154,551,163.25. A left sidebar contains icons for account settings, notifications, and a profile icon. The main content area is titled 'Marketplace Profile' and includes a close button (X). It is divided into four sections: 'Company Information' with a 'Logo' upload field (prompting for a png, jpeg, or gif file) and a 'Choose File' button; 'Description' with a text area (prompting to tell brands about the user or company) and a 1000-character limit; 'Search Keywords' with a text area (prompting to provide keywords for brands to search by); and 'Business Model' with a dropdown menu set to 'Select Primary Method'. A 'Save' button is at the bottom left, and a 'Messaging' button is at the bottom right.

→ Media properties

Add the different media properties you own to your Marketplace listing under Media Properties. Having verified media properties on your profile makes brands more confident in working with you.

To add a media property, click on Create a Media Property. Select the type of property you want to add from the dropdown. From there, you'll go through a simple verification process (where available).

Note: Check out this article to learn more about the verification process.

Setting up Financial information

Setting up your financial information

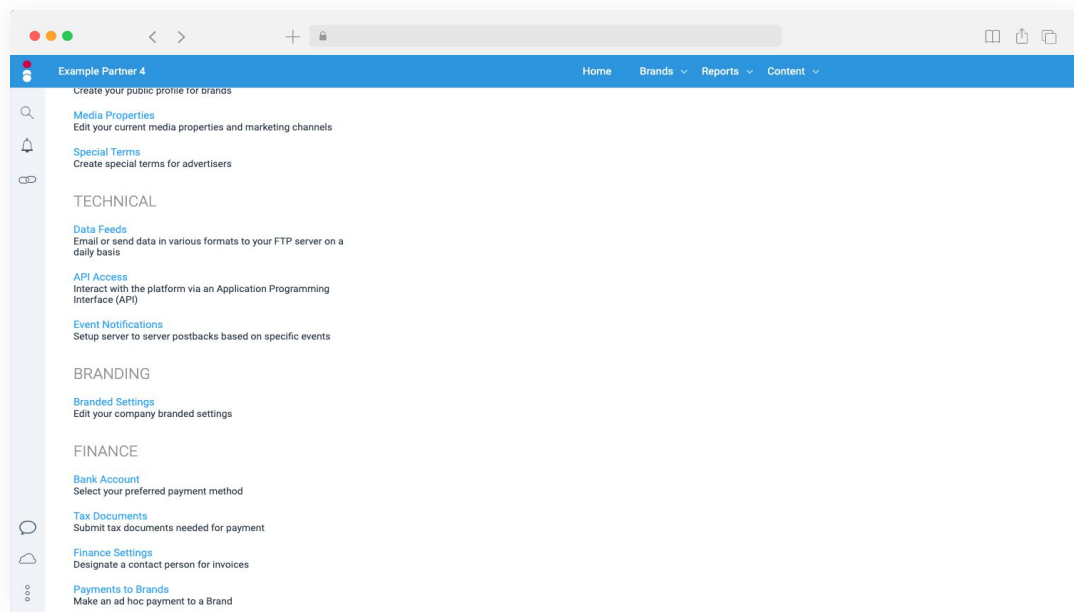

Ultimately, you invest in brand partnerships to increase revenue for your business.

Note: Ensure your financial information is entered into the platform correctly so you can get paid.

→ Entering your bank account information

To access your banking information, navigate to the settings page, then select Bank Account under Finance.

→ Changing your bank account details

We protect your account from bad actors through payment security measures. When you change your banking details, impact.com does the following:

- Automated email notifications to alert you about bank detail changes.
- A 48-hour payment hold after payment detail updates, with banners to inform you of the hold and any unauthorized changes.
- Our compliance team will verify that all changes are legitimate, which can take two to four weeks.
- Payments may be blocked to protect against fraudulent payouts if impact.com detects suspicious activity, you report fraudulent banking detail updates, or you commit a QTP violation.

→ Supported Currencies & Timezones

Currency support can vary based on payment or withdrawal method. Learn more about your finance settings and options as a brand, agency, or partner / creator.

Currencies by partner withdrawal method:

For partners, different currencies are available for each withdrawal method: ACH, wire, and PayPal.

Learn about Supported Currencies & Timezones in the following link

→ Payment method

To make sure you can withdraw and deposit funds, enter your banking information under Payment Method on the Bank Account page.

Paypal is only available as a withdrawal method for certain currencies.

Good to know: You select your preferred currency when you sign up for impact.com. You can't change it after the account is created. If you need to change your currency type, reach out to support.

PayPal Currencies

→ Autopay settings

Under Autopay, choose to get paid either:

- When your available balance hits a certain threshold
- On a fixed day of the month (1st or 15th)

Remember: Your balance must be at least $10 to withdraw for either method.

→ Entering your tax details

If you're a partner with a brand based in the US or select USD as your currency, you need to submit an electronic tax document.

Enter your tax information carefully to ensure you're getting paid properly.

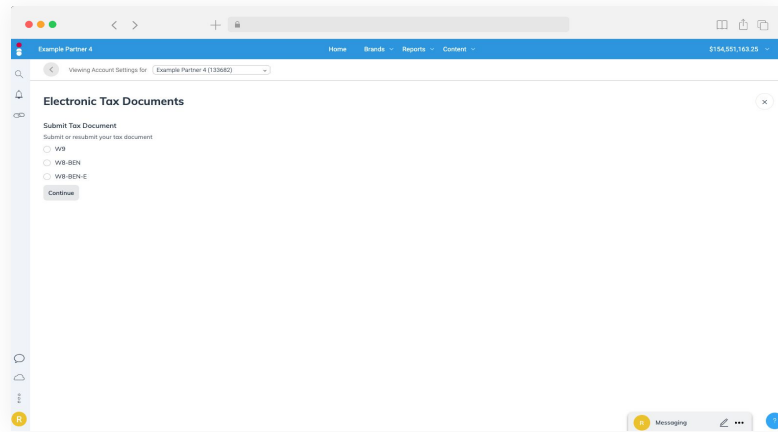

To provide your tax information, navigate to the settings page, then select Tax Documents under Finance.

➔ Providing the correct documents

When you reach Electronic Tax Documents, select the document you plan to upload.

Remember: To ensure you submit the correct information, contact a CPA or tax professional who can offer advice about your specific situation.

Here's a guideline to help determine which document is suitable for you:

Submit a W9 form if you're an individual or LLC residing in the US and doing business with US companies.

Submit a W8-BEN form if you're an individual residing outside of the US and are doing business with US companies.

Submit a W8-BEN-E form if you're an entity residing outside of the US and are doing business with US companies.

Accessing Product & Catalog Feeds

Accessing product & catalog feeds

When partners access brand product catalogs via Impact, they typically have two main integration options: API or FTP.

Both serve to deliver product data, but they differ significantly in how they operate, how data is accessed, and what kind of partners might prefer each.

Let's explore a breakdown of the differences between API and FTP access, and why a partner might choose one over the other

→ Access method

● API (Application Programming Interface):

- Access is done programmatically via HTTPS requests.
- Allows real-time or near-real-time access to specific data.
- Requires development work to integrate API endpoints.
- Ideal for real-time or frequent updates (e.g checking prices dynamically).
- Better for use cases where catalog data changes often or needs to be synced frequently.
- Requires development knowledge to authenticate, query, and parse responses.

● FTP (File Transfer Protocol):

- Access is done by downloading (or sometimes uploading) files from a server.
- Typically uses scheduled bulk data transfers (e.g., daily product feed in CSV or XML).
- Easier to set up if tools/processes for handling files are already in place
- Best suited for periodic updates (e.g., once or twice per day).
- Not suitable for real-time needs, but fine for static or slow-changing catalogs
- Simpler for teams with legacy systems or non-developer workflows.

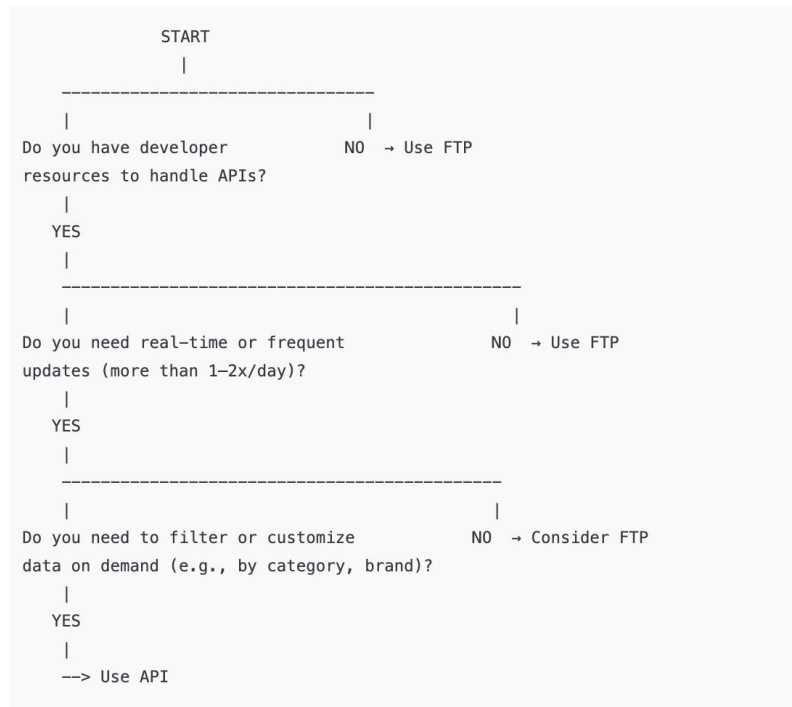

Summary Table

Sophisticated partners, such as enterprise affiliates or platforms (e.g., shopping comparison engines), will often choose API for flexibility and real-time updates. Smaller partners, blogs, or voucher sites often use FTP because it's easier to implement and maintain.

Feature	API	FTP
Access	Programmatic, real-time	File-based, scheduled
Data Freshness	Near real-time	Periodic (e.g., daily)
Setup Complexity	Higher (dev resources needed)	Lower (easier setup)
Use Case	Dynamic apps, scalable systems	Static use, simple ingestion
Flexibility	High (filtering, queries)	Low (fixed data structure)
Error Handling	Requires handling API errors	Easier, but may fail silently

➔ Accessing via FTP

To download via FTP, you'll need an FTP client (such as FileZilla or Cyberduck) to connect to impact.com's FTP server.

Getting Support

Getting the support you need

The impact.com platform offers many valuable tools for publishers, but sometimes you might need help finding or using them.

Luckily, you can find different forms of support across the platform suited to your goals and learning style.

→ Guide and help centers

For assistance, click the question mark icon to open the support menu.

From this menu, you can find multiple forms of support:

- Guide center: In-app guides that walk you through specific platform workflows or features.
- Tickets: Log your query with the support team to collaborate with a product expert to resolve your problem.
- Help docs: A comprehensive library of articles to find information about the platform.
